

TuKute Presents

TuKute started out doing comedy at the tender age of 50 and quickly realized there was not enough entertainment around for adults her age. She began producing her own shows with various artists such as musicians, vocalists, comedians and painters that she enjoyed having entertain her. That was 10 years ago.

Currently she is the founder of TuKute Presents which assists mature artists to become viable in today's marketing and promotions world, produces live music events for mature adults, hosts events, speaking engagements as well as standup comedy. Recently partnered with Comedian Paula G to co-produce Comedy Concoction which includes live music with comedy being the focus. Now in demand by ladies organizations for speaking engagements and Hosting events as well.

A recent performance at the Sapphire Lounge in Las Vegas has her focusing not only on performing standup comedy but intertwining her stand-up comedy with writing and performing comedic lyrics to some old standards.

Tu, French and Spanish for "You", and Kute because she is. Taking the bull by the horns (so to speak) is what she did and she made changes in her life to benefit the woman she had become as well as others.

TuKute resides in Atlanta, GA with nobody but herself. Searching for a date.
