FALLING APART
By Jamie Coon

Well it's up to me to tell you the truth
I've been holding out my arms too long for you
I think that it's time that I go
You don't give me a reason to stay here anyone

You keep dragging me down
Blaming me for your mistakes
With everything we went through
It doesn't mean a thing
Doesn't mean a thing to you

Chorus:
I'm still bruised can't feel anything
I am lost & I'm falling apart
I am tired, I am ashamed
I've been trying to explain
I'm falling apart
I'm falling apart

Well the night has come to an end
I'm packing up my life & starting over again
Think I couldn't let you go
You don't give me a reason to stay here anymore

You keep dragging me down
Blaming me for your mistakes
With everything we went through
It doesn't mean a thing
Doesn't mean a thing to you

Chorus:
I'm still bruised can't feel anything
I am lost & I'm falling apart
I am tired, I am ashamed
I've been trying to explain
I'm falling apart
I'm falling apart

Bridge:
Where were you when I needed you

I can't stop time I still love you
Oh tell me when to start this life
Don't you know you were everything to me
Everything to me

Chorus

SAVE YOURSELF
by Jamie Coon

Well I don't know
About this life I'm living anymore
He says to me
Across the table
Hands fumble, he softly speaks
Now you know, what's been going on inside my head
How could I forgot all their glances slowly smile unpleasantly

You can save yourself
Live your life with who you need
Who are we to judge you for that?
The world is not blind
They don't want to change their minds
But you can save yourself from that

It's a shame we're still living life
this kind of way
Filled with hate & we are falling faster with no time to waste
Every night I pray to God to make it alright
To live our lives without judgment
Is that so hard to believe?

You can save yourself
Live your life with who you need
Who are we to judge you for that?
The world is not blind

They don't want to change their minds
But you can save yourself from that